JOHN CALVIN, THE REFORMER

HERO OF THE SIXTEENTH CENTURY.

An Interesting and Scholarly Lecture by Rev. Dr. Reed, at the First Presbyterian Church, Last Night—Something of the Life and Work of the Man Who Threw His Soul Into the Reformation Which Transformed the Religion of the World.

The large congregation at the First Presbyterian church last night had the pleasure of listening to a learned and interesting lecture by Rev. C. C. Reed, D. D., on John Calvin, one of the real heroes of earth. Dr. Reed is professor of church history in the Presbyterian Seminary at Columbia, S. C., and is a man of bright intellect and high scholarly attainments.

In his introductory remarks Dr. Reed said he wished to introduce his hearers to an old friend of his; a man of simple taste and humble bearing, yet who was probably more generally known than any character outside the Bible. He added that, while the name of John Calvin was loved and revered throughout the Christian world, he had probably been hated as no other man. From pulpit and platform, and from all avenues of life, streams of abuse had flowed forth, yet we bowed in reverence before Calvin as one of the most heroic natures, greatest intellects and devout Christrians in all history.

John Calvin was born, the speaker said, on July 10th, 1809, when Luther was 25 years old and just before the bursting of the storm of reformation. He was a native of France, his parents being well-to-do people of the middle class. Young Calvin was designed for the Roman Catholic priesthood, and his early education was begun with this end in view. At the age of twelve he received the tonsure and was dedicated to the priesthood. This was the first and only step he ever took toward consecration, but it was sufficient to enable him to receive an ecclusiastical office, with the salary attached. He was made chaplain in his home church.

Soon after Calvin was hurried off to Paris to complete his education. He remained there five years and developed such a remarkable bright intellect that his father, thinking him too brilliant for the church, desired him to enter the law.

He readily yielded to his father's wishes and at once proceeded to the study of law. It was while thus engaged that he was converted to God. He underwent a most terrific spiritual struggle and learned the utter helplessness and depravity of the human heart.

After his conversion he returned home, gave up the Catholic church, and hastening off to Paris, threw himself into the heart of the reformation. Here he was soon branded as a heretic and left the French capiatl to escape death. After wandering up and down France for two years, he was finally guided by the hand of God to the city of Geneva, which had just adopted the reformation as the religion of the little republic. Here his work begun most auspiciously, but he soon encountered opposition, which increased to such an extent that he was deposed and banished from the city.

Leaving Geneva, Calvin went to Strasburg, where he established the first real Presbyterian church. After three years of wickedness and corruption, the people of Geneva had their eyes opened and Calvin was entreated to return. He finally did so, against his wishes, and at the age of 32 was settled for life.

Calvin resolved that if he preached the gospel the people of Geneva should practice the teachings of the gospel; and with this in view, he had a most rigid system of church government and discipline adopted. It secured the independence of the church in spiritual matters and established the authority of the church over its members. Social dissipation and other vices so prevalaent at that time were put under the ban of the law.

Of Calvin himself Dr. Reed spoke most interestingly. Physically the great reformer was a weak man, afflicted with many diseases, but his intellectuality was very great. His judgment so sound and accurate that no error was ever commited when his advice was followed. He was a man of dauntless courage and warm affection, though his nature was not mentioned.

Calvin was one of the greatest constructive theologians of all times. When only 26 years old he had published his "Institutes of the Christian Religion," a work that has exercised a more powerful influence on the world of religion than anything that ever came from an uninspired pen. He also wrote many commentaries which are accepted as standards.

In conclusion Dr. Reed spoke of the great infuence, both civil and religious, exercised by Calvin over Geneva. His rule was absolute and resulted in redeeming and glorifying Geneva and making it the Rome of Protestantism. When he died the whole city was in mourning. He was buried without pomp, and until this day no monument marks his resting place.

THE CASES NOT YET CALLED.

DELAY IN TRIAL OF REGISTRARS.

The Accused are Here With a Large Number of Their Friends and Witnesses, but the Court is Slow in Taking Up Their Cases—The Court Room Packed by Interested Spectators, Anxious to Hear the Trials—Defense Represented by Able Counsel.

The Winston registration cases were to have been taken up in the Federal Court today, but another case delayed them. This was a case against James Taylor, of Stokes county, charged with illicit distilling, and retailing and concealing whiskey. The evidence was concluded and argument before the jury begun shortly after 3 o'clock.

The greatest interest is being manifested in the registration cases, the court room being packed this afternoon by people anxious to hear the trial.

Messrs. J. T. Thompson and Hunter Wall, the gentlemen accused, arrived from Winston at noon, accompanied by a large number of friends and witnesses. The crowd was so large as to necessiatate attaching an extra coach to the Winston train.

The cases are being looked after personally by Democratic Chairman Simmons, assisted by Messrs. R. B. Glenn, Clement Manly, and J. C. Buxton, of Winston; Judge James E. Shepherd and Col. Thomas M. Argo, of Raleigh, and King & Kimball and Z. V. Taylor, of this city.

Mr. Thompson's case was called at 4 o'clock. Several dozen Winston negroes were in the courthouse as witnesses against him.

The hearing of the cases will occupy a great deal of time.

STATE CAMPAIGN FUNDS.

A Republican Worker in Polk County Relieved the Pocket of a Friend of $285.

Rutherfordton Special to Charlotte Observer.

This is a story told me by a man from Polk, who was here yesterday: "Mr. Boney Hampton is clerk of the court of Polk county. Just before the August election he had $300 sent him to spend in the Republican fight. He sent for one of his close and faithful friends to come and get his part to use. He came, got $15 of the money, stayed all night, and left the next morning. The money was also missing from Mr. Hampton's pockets. A big howl was raised that the Democrats had stolen it and used it in the campaign, and that was the reason that Polk came near going Democratic. Now it has developed that Mr. Hampton's close friend who spent the night with him and received the $15 was the Democratic burglar. I am informed that Mr. Hampton has the evidence against him, and will have him arrested."

State Fair Marshals.

The following Greensboro gentlemen have been appointed assistant marshals for the State Fair, to be held in Raleigh October 22-27:

Z. V. Coyners, Lee H. Battle, Paul Schenck, C. P. Sellars, S. C. Todd, L. J. Brandt, R. P. Walters, J. W. Cone, W. F. Clegg and Z. V. Clegg, Dr. C. L. Scott and Will McAdoo.

Mr. W. T. Old, of Elizabeth City, is the chief marshal.

Death of a Juror's Father.

Mr. E. E. Harriss, one of the Federal Court petit juors, received a telegram this morning informing him of the sudden death of his father. He was excused from duty and left at once for his home in Randolp county, west of Asheboro.

A CYCLONE IN MINNESOTA

SWEPT AWAY LIFE AND PROPERTY

Cut a Swarth One Hundred and Fifty Feet Wide Through a Town and Reduced Houses to Kindling Wood—Nine Lives Lost and $75,000 of Property Destroyed.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Biwalk Minn., Oct. 8.—A tornado which raged in this vicinity last evening cut a pathway of a hundred and fifty feet wide through the northwerstern corner of town. Buildings were completely wrecked. Shaft houses for three miles in the path of the storm were reduced to kindling wood. The property loss is estimated at seventy-five thousand to a hundred thousand dollars and the known fatalities are nine, with a score or more injured.

Jailed for Stealing.

Saturday night Policeman Jordan arrested Daisy Hargraves, a negro cook, charged with stealing some wearing apparel from Mrs. J. W. Pugh, by whom she was employed as a servant. After committing the theft she left and obtained employment elsewhere.

It seems that the negro entered the residence during the night, while the members of the family were asleep, which makes the offence burglarly. She is in jail.

AN EDITOR'S TRIAL.

A Charlotte Newspaper Man Indicted for Criminal Libel.

Special to The Telegram.

Charlotte, Oct. 8.—At Randleman, today C. M. Ray, one of the editors of the "Mill News," published at Charlotte, will be placed on trial on a charge of libel brought by Rev. C. F. Austin, who is now engaged as a lecturer in the interests of labor organizations in the State.

The "Mill News," which circulates generally among the cotton mills of this State, some time ago published an editorial in which the character of Rev. C. F. Austin was shown up in a very bad light, he being charged in the editorial with having led at one time an adulterous life and of having been guilty of other serious charges. Austin, it is now said, claims that he was converted after the time of the foregoing charges and it would seem, claims that he was not of the true faith at the time set forth in the charges.

Since Austin has instituted criminal libel proceedings the "Mill News" makes further intimations of dark spots in the career of Austin and seems to feel no doubt as to the outcome of the trial.

The paper clair s that Austin is not a fit adviser of the laboring classes of the State which the "Mill News" represents.

Attention Knights of Pythias.

There will be a very important meeting of Greensboro Lodge No. 80, K. of P., tonight. Let every member who possibly can, be present.

HIGH POINT IS COMING.

Will Bring a Tremendous Crowd to the Fair This Week--Election Tomorrow.

Correspondence of The Telegram.

High Point, Oct. 6.—Tomorrow the citizens of this place will vote on bonds for water works. A number of the people seem to think that the issue will be carried, while others are of a different opinion. It is more than probable, I think, that the election will result in a victory for the water-works if the proper work is done. That's the place to put in work that will tell when the votes are counted.

Dr. J. W. Long, of Salisbury, was here yesterday enroute to Randleman, whither he had been called to see Mr. John Ferree's little son, who is reported quite sick.

Miss Cornelia Roberson, teacher of the seventh grade in the public school, is able to be at her post of duty again after a spell of sickness at her home at Guilford College.

Without a doubt the largest crowd from any town or city in the State at the fair in the Gate City will come from High Point. Each day scores of people will be in attendance, a large number going through the country. Be in readiness to receive us neighbor. We know you will.

Mr. A. E. Tate, proprietor of a poultry yard here, will have on exhibition at the Central Carolina Fair some of his fine birds, which have taken prizes in previous shows.

J. W. Bulla, of Richmond, was here yesterday.

Rev. J. W. Jones, former pastor of the M. E. church, delighted his friends by occupying the pulpit at that church last evening.

Mr. W. W. Mills, of Carthage, spent Saturday evening here.

C. M. Crawford is suffering from an ugly boil on one of his hands.

Accident at the Fair Ground.

A great many people have been at the Fair grounds all day, inspecting the horses, exhibits, midway attractions, etc. When the heavy rainstorm came up this moring a number made for a tent to seek shelter, in the crowd being Messrs. George Vanstory and Harry Seargeant, who were in a buggy. Just as they drove under the shelter the center pole was knocked down, the tent falling on them and the others under it. The horse was, of course, excited, but fortunately no one was seriously injured. A negro boy was pinned to the ground by the falling center pole.

The tent had been erected by Mr. James H. West.

One-Eyed Negro Captured.

Will Claiborn, colored, who shot and seriously wounded Hannah Setzer a few nights ago, afterwards fleeing the city, was captured in Danville yesterday morning. Officer Jeffreys went over for him, returning on the local passenger train last evening.

Claiborn is blind in one eye, but this does not seem to have hindered him from shooting with good aim.

Football at the University.

Correspondence of the Telegram.

The football game between the University of North Carolina and the Deaf and Dumb Institute, of Morganton, resulted in a score of 38 to 0, in favor of Carolina. The University made three touch downs in the first half, while the Dummies failed to score in this half.

In the second half the game was more interesting, Carolina making four touch downs; the Dummies meeting with the same fate as before.

Prominent Young People to Wed.

The marriage of Mr. Calvin N. McAdoo, of this city, and Miss Frances Hawkes Cameron, of Richmond, Va., is announced, the event to take place at the home of the prospective bride.

Miss Cameron is well known in Greensboro, having visited friends here. She formerly resided in Raleigh, being a daughter of the late Gen. Francis H. Cameron.

Meeting of Board of Education.

The County Board of Education was in session today, transacting only routine business. The Board is composed of Prof. J. Allen Holt, of Oak Ridge Institute; Prof. W. T. Whitsett, of Whitsett Institute, and Messrs. J. R. Wharton and W. F. Alderman, of this city.

The Advance Guard Already Here—Visitors Coming in Large Numbers—A Variety of Attractions—Entries for the Races—More Horses Here Than Were Ever Before at a North Carolina Race Track—The Social Events of the Week.

The advance guard of the Fair arrived Saturday night in the persons of loud-mouthed venders of song books, fakirs, etc. They were reinforced yesterday and today, and the indications are that this feature of the Fair will also be a success. A number of people with attractions and exhibitis are on the grounds mingling with the small army of horsemen, all impatient for the opening of what is believed will be one of the biggest fairs ever held in the State.

The weather today was such as to damapen the ardor of those interested in the success of the enterprise, but it is hoped that tomorrow will bring sunshine and a cool wave.

At the Fair grounds everything is in readiness for the opening tomorrow. Secretary Walsh went out this morning and established headquarters in Exhibition Hall, where he may be found during the week.

Newspaper Men Here to Attend the Trial.

Several newspaper men are in town to attend the trial of Messrs. Thompson and Wall, the Democratic registrars from Winston, among them being Messrs. Fred L. Merritt, of the Raleigh News and Observer; H. B. Varner, of the Lexington Dispatch, and A. D. Watts, of the Statesville Mascot. Mr. J. O. Foy, of the Winston Journal, came down with the Winston contingent, but returned this afternoon.

CAMPAIGN WORK QUITE WARM.

MISTAKE THAT INTEREST IS DULL.

While Not so Warm as the August Campaign, Work is Going on--Raleigh Wants a Part Paid Fire Department--Daughters of the Confederacy to Meet--The Scarcity of Cooks Increases.

Special Correspondence of The Telegram.

Raleigh, Oct. 7.—Summer has come again and the people who sell heavy clothing find no demand for it. Cotton is growing at a great rate, and fall signs are few.

The owners of the Trade buidins agreed to sell it to the auditorium stockholders, and the latter by a yea and nay vote decided to take it. Now the owners want the stockholders to take a stock vote. The fact is that a lot of people are kicking because of the proposed location in rear of the Trade building. Some want to get the State to let the stockholders have one of the two public squares for a site, but such a thing certainly ought not to be permitted. The way to do is to buy a lot and build a handsome auditorium on it, a building which will make a show worthy of the town.

The fourth annual State convention of the North Carolina Daughters of the Confederacy will be held here at the auditorium in the State Agricultural building. The following are the officers: Honorary president, Mrs. Stonewall Jackson, Mrs. William Parsley and Mrs. Francis Fisher Tiernan; president, Miss Lydia Rodman; vice president, Mrs T. J. Jarvis, Mrs. J. B. Whitaker; recording secretary, Mrs. Wm. H. Overman; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Margaret M. Blount; treasurer, Mrs. John W. Hinsdale; registrar, Mrs. Maria S. Parham, historian, Mrs. Armstead Jones.

The session Wednesday begins at 10:30 a. m., with a business meeting, which will be opened with prayer by Rev. Dr. M. M. Marshall. At the afternoon session there will be a report by the committee for the Jefferson Davis monument, with introductory remarks by Col. Thos. S. Kenan. Capt. C. B. Denson will deliver an address on the causes which led up to the Civil war. The State Chairmen will report and the chapters will submit their reports. A collection will be made. The songs, "Tenting Tonight!" and "Dixie" will be sung. In the evening the local chapter, Johnson Pettigrew, will give a reception in the auditorium to the visiting delegates, and a portrait of Capt. Thomas Sparrow will be presented.

Thursday there will be business sessions in the morning and afternoon and the visitors will be driven around the city and to the Soldiers' Home, at which the local camp of the United Confederate Veterans will give a reception. In the evening from 8:30 to 11 the Capital Club will give the delegates a reception.

P. M. Pearsall, secretary of the State Democratic executive committee, says the impression seems to have gotten out that there is great apathy throughout the State in the national campaign, and that very little attention is given to carrying the State for Bryan and Stevenson, and the election of nine Congressmen. He says this is erroneous; that while there is not as much interest manifested in the campaign as in that before the August election, still the people are interested in the coming election. He was asked about the distribution of literature and said there had been distributed from headquarters 100,000 documents.

Many speakers of note are now in the field. Others are to take the stump. Besides, there is a sub-elector for nearly every county, who is actively in the campaign. There are nine candidates for Congress and nine electors for Congressional districts, actively in the campaign and covering every section of the State thoroughly. The people are very much interested in the three great issues of this great campaign, especially imperialism and trusts. He was asked his opinion of the senatorial primary and its effect upon the general election. He said he preferred not to discuss the matter, but thought the impression was erroneous that this question was completely overshadowing the general election; that it was true the matter was being discussed now more than any other, but he thought that in a short while the people would have generally made up their minds upon the subject, and then the national campaign would be the leading topic of discussion and interest. He was asked what he thought of the proposition of Judge Avery to postpone the primary and said he did not understand how that could be done; that the State convention, the supreme power of the party, had ordered a senatorial primary held on the 6th of November, and that he knew of no power to change it; that certainly the State committee had no authority to do so; all the State convention left for it to do was to devise a plan for carrying out the primary, which it has done, and that, in his opinion any attempt by the State committee to abrogate or postpone the primary would be ultra vires. He said: "I hope you will understand that what I say is not said as a supporter of any of the candidates."

The scarcity of negro cooks here is getting to be a subject of much talk. Out of 60 ladies who were seen last week, more than a dozen said they were "cookless." The cooks are going North. It is asserted that the negro exodus next year will be quite large.

Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Norris, of Raleigh, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mamie Norris, to Mr. Henry A. Coles, of Atlanta, Ga., and Miss Ethel Norris to Mr. Joe K. Marshall, of Raleigh. Both marriages will take place before the holidays. The Misses Norris are well known in social circles in North Carolina.

The chief of the Raleigh fire department wants at least a partly paid department, and last evening the aldermen discussed this matter at considerable length. A committee will look into it. The present volunteer department is efficient, but would fail in the case of a great fire, the chief says. Relatively few of the volunteers respond to alarms. He wishes to pay those who do real work.

Grand Secretary John C. Drewry, of the grand lodge of Masons, tells me there are now 312 lodges, and that the membership is over 14,000. There are four new lodges this year and other

THE DANGER FROM MOB VIOLENCE.

A recent occurrence in Stanly county shows the danger which some of the thoughtful people of the South have been pointing out as the probable outcome of mob violence. While there are numerous examples of this danger, the one in question is so palpable, so pointed, so unmistakable, that it should not be allowed to pass without notice and comment.

A family was poisoned at the time it was, entertaining a large party of workmen engaged in threshing the crop of wheat. Not only were a number made deathly sick by the poison in the food, but one member of the family, a promising young physician, just starting out in his professional career, was killed. Of course the deed shocked that section of the State, the time selected for the poisoning, its wholesale character, the mystery surrounding it, all contributed to the horror of it. The most rigorous investigation was begun in the hope of finding the guilty party. Finally a negro woman admitted that she had put arsenic on the tomatoes used for dinner, and that after the white people had eaten she carefully removed all the fragments to prevent any of the colored people getting them. She further said, no doubt under great pressure, that her brother-in-law had given her the arsenic, that he had received it from another negro, who had received it from a Mr. Vann Sikes, a well known young white man living as a neighbor of the poisoned people, and that he had sent her word that he would give her five dollars if she would admininster the poison.

Now behold! On such an assertion as this a mob gathers and proceeds straighway to lynch this young man, and was only prevented from doing so, the report says, by the arrival of a few friends, who with pistols, defied the crowd and demanded a hearing. It mattered not that the woman told the most absurd and improbable story, nor that the young man was of the best of families without a breath against his reputation, that he had a young wife and children dependent upon him, that he was a neighbor heretofore on friendly terms with the poisoned people, or that they were acting in the most unreasonable way. But this shows the progressive spirit of mob violence.

We have never yet been able to condemn the man or his friends who, where a loved one is the object of a heinous crime, rushes madly to avenge that crime. But the man who thus acts for cause lends encouragement to those who would act without cause, and the criminally thinking element presume upon the tolerance accorded an outraged and wronged man. That is one of the dangers. The other is that which comes from familiarity with mob violence. From often seeing it, it becomes regarded as necessary and righteous instead of unlawful and murderous as it is. While we can look with tolerance upon a community's action in times of great outrages, we can but see the danger of the course and think that for the sake of the public good, for the sake of law and order, and more, for the sake of the very safety of every individual who is likely, as this young man was, to be falsely and frivolously accused, that community and those individuals should forbear an unlawful expression of their just wrath, and stand for the excution of the law.

Mr. W. P. McLean, a well known and most highly esteemed citizen, died early this morning at his home four miles east of Greensboro. He had been in feeble health for months, suffering from dropsy, and his death was not unexpected.

Mr. McLean had long been a leading citizen of the county. He lead an exemplary Christian life and was prepare for the end.

The deceased served several terms as surveyor of Guilford county, being forced to decline a re-nomination at the last Democratic convention on account of ill health.

A GANG OF THIEVES.

Chief Scott Runs Against a Number of Pickpockets and Finds Their Booty.

Chief of Police Scott, who, some of his friends think, should have been a professional detective, ran into a crowd of fakirs this morning who had evidently struck it rich. The men had just arrived from Danville to attend the Fair, and seeing that they were suspicious characters, the Chief cornered them in a room and instituted a search for anything that might be on their persons.

One of the men, a smooth-looking chap, had 18 watches on his person, while another had a pocketfull. The watches were of all descriptions and were probably lifted from people in all the walks of life.

There was no evidence that the men were thieves and Chief Scott was of course unable to arrest them. He was probably glad to get out of the crowd without being "touched" himself.

HOW TO AVOID APOSTACY.

The Subject of Rev. Mr. Wagg's Sunday Morning Sermon—No Man Will Fall From Grace While Faithfully Performing His Christian Duty.

At Centenary church yesterday morning, Rev. T. E. Wagg, following up his discourse of the preceding Sunday, preached a strong sermon on "How to Avoid Apostacy." His text was a part of Ecclesiasties XII, 13.1: "Fear God, and keep his commandments, for this is the whole duty of man."

The text was divided into two parts: First, fear and love; 2d, practical obedience, both of which were exceedingly well developed. Regarding the latter, Mr. Wagg said in part;

"Practical obedience describes right feeling toward God. Love turns obedience into delight. Practical obedience is the natural result of right feeling. No man has ever yet fallen, or ever will fall while in the faithful discharge of his duty toward God. Who is he that will harm you if ye be follower of that which is good. The answer "no one," is implied. No man ever will fall who obeys the teaching of the text.

You may receive the grace of God in rain. It will bring forth no fruit if not cultivated. We are kept through the power of God, through faith, unto salvation! Again, commit your soul to the keeping of God in well doing! All the powers of earth and hell cannot defeat God's plan of full and complete salvation for his people, but I warn you against the doctrine that God designs to keep a disobedient soul. If we, by sin, sever our relation with God, we can no longer enjoy the peace it gives. Without communion with God, there can be no spiritual life!

"How am I to avoid apostacy? I tell you to watch and pray. Avoid two dangerous errors: Do not act upon the presumption that because you have been converted your salvation is certain. If you fall, you must repent. To avoid falling, keep in constant communion with God. Yield not to temptation. I would also warn you against the error that if we do all we can we can not hold out to the end. God has not laid the basis of your holding out upon feeling, but upon well doing."

PENNILESS ACTORS.

A company of actors, absolutely penniless and who never receive any salary are soon to visit the city. The announcement of a troupe of this sort would carry no interest with it if it were not for the fact that the thespians in question are the animal actors of Prof. Gentry's famous show. Although they give twelve performances a week, they never receive any consideration for their labors, except that they are well fed and thoroughly cared for by their attendants. It costs nearly a hundred dollars a day to feed the entire company, consisting of over 300 dogs, ponies, monkeys and elephants.

West Washington and Ash strests at 2:30 and 8 p. m., Thursday, October 11th. Admission: Children, 15 cents; adults, 25 cents.

Fashion's Picture

Changes so often. Come here when you will and you'll see the world of textiles as in popular favor at the moment. So quickly come the new conceptions of fashion that many exquiste things are here and gone before other stores get them. This is the reason the mere mention of our name commands attention, because it implies an association with the newest and choicest merchandise offerings on earth. As is so often said, we are first in style, first in quality, and first in the hearts of our citizens. To keep the people posted about the values we receive almost hourly during the day, so that all might have an equal showing, why, we would be forced to issue an extra bulletin. It is wise, therefore, and to your benefit, to do as your neighbors do—come early and often. No telling what a day may bring forth, or at what hour an extra freight train will pull in at the station and unload a cargo of goods for us. IMPORTANT!

Greensboro, N. C., Sept. 26th, 1900.

TO OUR CUSTOMERS:

On and after October 15th, 1900, we, the undersigned, will do a strictly cash business. Our reasons are as follows:

1st. Absolute NECESSITY.

2nd. Laundry, the world over, is a recognized cash business and justly so.

3rd. Our accounts are necessarily small, and it causes an endless amount of confusion and expense to collect, besides losses each year in bad bills.

4th. All of our current expenses, such as labor, fuel, gas and supplies are cash, hence the stand we take is forced upon us. While we very much regret, in most cases, to exact the spot cash, yet we must treat all alike, and we see no other way out of the difficulty. We trust our customers will lend us their aid by stating when to return laundry and by being prepared to pay for same when delivered. Our drivers will have positive instructions to return to the laundry all packages not paid for.

We have on sale at office (for cash) coupon books from $1 to $5 which can be left at convenient place at home, so that on delivery of bundle the amount of laundry bill can be torn out by the driver.

VERY RESPECTFULLY,

A WONDER WITH TWO HEADS

AN EXHIBITION THAT IS CREATING A GREAT INTEREST AT THE FAIR

MILLIE CHRISTINE

IS EDUCATED AND SPEAKS FOUR LANGUAGES.

HAS TWO HEADS, FOUR ARMS, FOUR LEGS, BUT ONLY ONE TRUNK—SHE SINGS, DANCES, AND CONVERSES INTELLIGENTLY WHEN. SHE IS SPOKEN TO.

Among the visitors who arrived in this city Sunday from New York was a party of ladies and gentlemen whom indefatigable Barnum, of showman notoriety, had nothing to do with, though here for the edification of the curious.

The most singularly and physiologically interesting member of the party is a woman, or, rather, two women rolled into one, who certainly is a rival of the famous Siamese twins, very much more attractive in appearance than Messrs. Chang and Eng. Those who saw the Siamese twins during their life in this country will have a vivid recollection of the painful look that their features bore and the constrained movement of their bodies while walking in any direction. There is a total absence of this in the party who bears the name of Miss Millie Christine, whose four black eyes and dazzling rows of pearly white teeth, light up a fair Creole complexion with an animation that is really attractive. This singular young woman is the offspring of parents who were slaves in North Carolina previous to the American civil war, and has several brothers and sisters who are like ordinary humanity. During the struggle the family suffered considerable privation; but a curious illustration of the changes which have taken place in Southern society through the war and the declaration of freedom from slavery, it may be mentioned that Millie Christine is now the owner of the plantation on which she was once a slave.

As to the lady herself, she has bodily one person, though possessed of two heads, two pairs of shoulders, four arms, two pairs of legs, amalgated curiously with one trunk. One can only say that an hour's audience with her proved her to be a cultured, self-possessed and accomplished person, who has a singular attainment of being able to hold two distinct coversations at the same time with different persons or the same person, can sing a duet very tastefully in two voices, soprano or contralto, can dance a mazurka with singular grace and facility. There was no difficulty made in exhibiting the upper portion of the dorsal connection and it was done without any infringement of modesty.

BOY WITH A HOBBY.

Master Hume Gibson Richards Is a Mechanical Prodigy.

Although But Four Years of Age He Can Run a Locomotive and Enjoys a Night Ride Over the Western Mountains.

Master Hume Gibson Richards is the youngest locomotive driver in the world. Indeed, he is not only a mechanical prodigy, but is as remarkable for his knowledge in other lines. Before he was three years old he astonished the railroad men of the west by his great knowledge of mechanics. He knew every part of the intricate locomotive, could name those parts by their technical terms, and describe their functions with exact precision and readiness. Repeated tests have been made of his singular knowledge of mechanics by experts, and the results have astounded the wise ones. On one occasion Master Richards was taken to the locomotive works of one of the Chicago railroads and he named the various parts of a locomotive before they were put together. Those who witnessed the test were forced to the belief that the youngster could build a locomotive by direction. He has been to the scene of wrecks several times and the points of interest to him were the smashed engines and cars. He would look over the demolished locomotives just as an "old-timer" would do, and within the same length of time give with technical skill a detailed account of the damage sustained by the engine. There are thousands of railroad cars operated in this country and Canada by the various railroads. Master Richards has never failed yet in designating the roads to which these cars belong. He knows by the initials painted thereon.

Many is the time he has sat in the cabs of locomotives that pull the fast mails and expresses over the western plains and mountainous highlands. To him such experiences have become as commonplace as to the engineers themselves. In fact, he is as much at home in the cab of a locomotive as the man at the throttle or the man who shovels coal in the firebox. Fear has never entered his mind while riding at the greatest speed in the cab of an engine. On some of his trips to and across the Rocky mountains he has fallen asleep alongside the boiler on the fireman's side of the cab. He would slumber soundly while the iron steed whirled around reverse curves, thundered up and down steep grades and through deep-walled cuts and rolled over level plains along those western overland routes. To him nothing is more interesting and absorbing.

OILING AROUND THE ENGINE.

Master Richards has not reached his fifth year, nor is he even able to read. He is too young to be sent to a kindergarten, his father preferring not to push him into the schoolroom before he is at least seven years old. His first love was a locomotive, and he studied it in his own peculiar way, without forgetting the smallest fact or part. He also took a keen interest in the late American-Spanish war, and has on his tongue's end the name of every battleship, cruiser, torpedo boat and other crafts of importance that took part in that conflict on both sides. Further, he knows every state, territory and island, lake and river of the United States, and can bound many of the states without the aid of a map. It is one of his pleasures and pastimes to take imaginary trips around the world, and in these he rattles off the seas, straits and other bodies of water passed through, as well as the names of the countries skirted, for he is equally conversant with the countries of the world and their inhabitants. He knows more about the causes that led up to the American-Spanish war and the results than many of matured years. In fact, he is full of the Filipino war, Cuban annexation and Porto Rican liberty, and can bound these new possessions of Uncle Sam with readiness.

Master Richards, says the Chicago Tribune, was born in Chicago on July 15, 1895. His father moved to Lincoln, Neb. Mrs. Richards died a year ago and Master Richards has since been with his grandfather, Henry A. Richards, formerly of Chicago.

Clearing Vessels of Rats.

Dr. F. Apeny, a Constantinople scientist, says ships and warehouses can be cleared of rats by using carbonic acid gas, which being heavier than air, will sink to the bottom and suffocate them.

STORY OF A SLAVE.

To be bound hand and foot for yeasr by the chains of disease is the worst form of slavery. Geo. D. Williams, of Manchester, Mich., tells how such a slave was made free. He says "My wife has been so helpless for five years that she could not turn over in bed alone. After using two bottles of Electric Bitters, she is wonderfully improved and able to do her own work." This supreme remedy for female diseases quickly cures nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, headache, backache, fainting and dizzy spells. This miracle-working medicine is a godsend to weak, sickly, rundown people. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50 cents. Sold by C. E. Holton, druggist.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for indigestion or biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of appendicitis, nervous prostration or heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and othaches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to moke you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. For sale by Grissom & Fordham.

Everything is in readiness for the concert and play at the Academy of Music tomorrow night. The curtain will ring up at 8:30 o'clock. The performance will be over in time to attend the receptions.

A Pear Tree Bearing Fruit and Blooms at the Same Time.

Judge John Gray Bynum has at his home a pear tree that is performing the double duty of blooming and bearing fruit at the same time. On the tree are a number of well developed, ripening pears and a wealth of blossoms. Such an occurrence is frequent in Southern California, but the Judge says he never before knew the like in North Carolina.

THE CIRCUS AND CHILDREN.

The coming of the Great Adam Forepaugh and Sells Brothers' Consolidated Shows on Saturday, October 13th, recalls to mind the old-fashioned couplet:

"Remember you were children once;
A happy child don't make a dunce," as it serves as a timely and appropriate introductory reminder that the management of the big and popular combination named have made very liberal and sensible provision for the special benefit of the children. A circus without a crowd of sunny-faced youngsters in attendance, to laud uncritically and to laugh infectiously, would be as a green Christmas minus Santa Claus, and the one which best pleases them is bound to please all. The coming one does so in filling its arena, rings, stages and aerial field with just such performances, pageants and whimsicalities as hit the juvenile fancy and tickle its ribs. Take the children to see them and they will make you young again.
